It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

INSTITUTION RECORDS.

The law requires the registration in this Department of all State wards. To maintain this record, monthly reports have been required from all institutions under State supervision, this since 1905.

I have made an attempt during the year to verify these reports by an actual checking up of our cards at each institution. This had not heretofore been done. This checking up developed numerous mistakes and omissions made by many of the institutions in their reports as well as a great dissimilarity in the character and methods of keeping institution records. Inmates had been received and not reported; so also with discharges, deaths, etc. It further discovered the custom, long followed in some of the county hospitals for the insane, of carrying paroled inmates on their records for from one to four months, and meanwhile charging the State for their support. Also the further very important fact that there are in our hospitals for the insane, both State and County, many inmates illegally detained, in that no legal commitment has been made. This situation seems to be largely due to the negligence of our committing Judges. The number of patients on September 1, 1913, for whom no Judge's commitments had been filed, was: At Morris Plains Hospital, 132; at Trenton Hospital, 45; Burlington

County Hospital, 1; Camden County Hospital, 34; Essex County Hospital, 165; a total of 277. It was found that some of these cases have been held without commitment papers since 1910, also that at the Trenton Hospital, in addition to the 45 cases reported, 30 cases had been admitted, one in 1911 and 29 in 1913, all of whom had been dismissed from the Hospital by death or otherwise before commitment papers had been filed.

In view of the importance of these matters and that the Department may be able to properly verify bills presented to the State for the support of the State wards, I make the following:

RECOMMENDATIONS.—1. That it shall be obligatory on the part of each institution to file in this Department a copy of every commitment paper.

2. That this Department shall be authorized and directed to devise, and the institutions to adopt, a uniform system of institution records, vital and social.

3. That bills against the State for maintenance of State wards shall be verified by this Department as to inmates, before payment.

MENTAL DEFECTIVES.

INSANE.—The Commission on the Care of Mental Defectives, provided for by Joint Resolution of the last General Assembly and appointed by you on May 6, 1913, has been giving much time and study to the work committed to it. The report of the Commission, to be submitted by March 1st, makes it unnecessary for me to again call attention to the present situation in the State with regard to the insufficient provision for these classes:—the insane, the feeble-minded and the epileptic. There are, however, several matters that seem important to call to the early attention of the Legislature.

Last year, although there was no general request or necessity for increasing the rate of maintenance for the insane, which was already sufficiently high, in view of the special appropriations made for salaries, repairs, etc., and receipts from pay patients, the rate was raised from $4.00 to $4.50 a week to apply to both county and State hospitals. The State contributes toward the support of approximately 3,000 patients in county hospitals. The new rate, therefore, adds to the State budget about $40,000 for these. The counties similarly contribute toward the support of their patients maintained in the State hospitals, approximately 2,500, and this adds to the counties' expense about $32,500. The State, by the increased rate for State hospital patients, about 3,600, (pay patients eliminated) must pay the additional sum of $46,800. This is in all a net increase for maintenance of the insane already under public care of $120,000 in round numbers. With a per capita cost already higher than in other states, this increase should not have been made and the old rate should be restored. Until the financial resources of the State shall enable it to provide for the hundreds of defectives now denied admission to our institutions for lack of room, and until the fearful overcrowding at Morris Plains and the Vineland Home for Feeble Minded Women has been relieved, there will be small justification for increasing the rates of expenditures for those already under care.

COMMITMENT LAW.—The revised commitment law of 1913 has caused great dissatisfaction and uncertainty, due, apparently, to the inability of those chiefly concerned with it to interpret and comply with its provisions. This law should be revised and simplified.

Feeble-Minded and Epileptic.—The law of 1908 authorized the care of feeble-minded men over 21 years of age at the State Village for Epileptics. The unwisdom of this policy is now apparent. The development of the colony idea at the Vineland Training School would seem to make it possible to care for this class economically and efficiently without imposing them upon other established institutions where they do not belong. Under these latter conditions, the cost of their care would be increased and the administration of the institutions complicated. The State Village for Epileptics was established for epileptics and it should care for epileptics only,—all classes of epileptics. When it does this, its management will be difficult enough, both by reason of size and character of inmates to tax the ability and strength of its administrative officers.

During the past year a new building was completed at the Village, the original purpose of which was for the housing of feeble-minded men. On account of the opening of the colony at the Vineland Training School, it was possible to provide for the 25 feeble-minded men that had already been committed to the Village and they were re-transferred to Vineland. An additional reason for this action was that the building thus vacated would enable the Village to receive certain epileptic inmates then being cared for in our insane hospitals. Acting under the authority of Section 6, Chapter 263, Laws of 1908, I made petition to the several county Judges for the transfer of certain of these cases to the Village. These transfers are now being affected. It is worthy of note that thus, for the first time since the opening of the Epileptic Village, it has begun to fulfill one of its original and chief purposes, namely, the relieving of our hospitals for the insane of the care of epileptics.

Recommendations: The Law authorizing the commitment of feeble-minded males, Chapter 311, Laws of 1908, should be repealed.

The law governing the admission of inmates to the Epileptic Village should be amended and all restrictions as to certain classes of epileptics stricken out, so that this institution shall be made to serve as an institution for all epileptics, without restriction as to their mental or physical condition. With the adoption of this policy, it should be kept in mind that additional facilities must be provided at the Village for the care of those classes of epileptics not heretofore received, namely, the insane, the violent, the dangerous, and the helpless.

There are now 349 State wards enrolled at the Training School at Vineland. The present appropriation is based upon care for 300. That this number has been exceeded has been due to the constant pressure upon this Department to commit children, and commitments have been made as rapidly as the Training School officials would receive them. There are still a large number of applicants on our waiting list, both for the Training School and for the State Home for Feeble-Minded Women. The probable completion of a new building at the latter institution early in the spring of 1914 will, I hope, take care of all pending applications, and for the present, at least, relieve the pressure for admission to that institution. While the Training School has increased its capacity to a limited degree by the organization of a colony for a number of the older boys, and while there is hope that efforts made during the year to secure the organization of a similar colony in Burlington County will be successful, still with both of these additional outlets, the State will be far short of sufficient accommodations for feeble-minded children, particularly those of the lower grades. The time must come, and that right soon, when serious consideration must be given by the State to the needs of this class.

IMPORTATION OF CHILDREN.

I have, during the year, continued efforts to arrive at the facts with regard to the bringing of dependent children into this State for placement.

It is manifestly important that the State should know not only to what extent such children are being brought or sent in by outside homes and agencies, but the character and condition of the children, and where and with whom placed.

The law of 1907 requires a bond in the sum of $1,000 from any home or agency placing or bringing such children into the State. The following organizations have furnished these bonds, which are deposited in this office:

Bethany Home for Children, Maywood, N. J.
Big Brother Movement, New York City.
Brooklyn Children's Aid Society, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Catholic Home Bureau, New York City.
Children's Aid Society, New York City.
International Sunshine Society, New York City.
Juvenile Aid Society, Philadelphia, Pa.
New Jersey Children's Home Society, Trenton, N. J.
New York Foundling Hospital, New York City.
New York Infant Asylum, New York City.
State Charities Aid Association, New York City.
The Home Missionary Society, Philadelphia, Pa.
The House of Refuge, Philadelphia, Pa.

In spite of efforts made to secure a general compliance with the requirements of the act, inquiry during the year has shown at least great carelessness on the part of some of the importing agencies to file their applications and secure permission before placing their children.

The result of the investigation made shows that in 156 cases the records of the several societies and homes agree with our office records. But, in addition to these, 142 children have been brought into the State by these societies without consent; 16 have been replaced without notice; 154 were brought in, are still under 21, and no report has been made as to their having been removed from the State and they are not reported by the societies as being under supervision in New Jersey. Ten children, according to our records, were returned, but, according to the societies' records, are still in New Jersey, and in 15 cases the records are incomplete.

I cite these facts merely to show that it is not sufficient for us to depend upon the accuracy of records made up from reports of institutions and societies without occasional verification of these reports. While, in justice to these child-placing agencies, it must be said that there has been no evidence of neglect on their part to safeguard the interests of their wards or to evade their responsibility when their attention has been called to specific cases, yet the fact remains that the provisions of the law have not been complied with. The law will not enforce itself. The present situation can be improved by increasing the facilities of this office to record, check up and investigate the operations of outside charitable and correctional agencies doing business in New Jersey.

OUR PRISON SYSTEM.

In my report last year, I covered this subject in a general way and made certain suggestions looking toward a complete and efficient State penal and correctional system. I renew those suggestions.

There is, however, a matter of immediate importance to the State that should receive the attention of the Legislature at as early a date as possible. The more or less promiscuous legislation of the past three years, following the adoption of the "State Use Plan" for the employment of prisoners in 1911, has brought about a condition that, so far as the State Prison is concerned, is simply chaotic. The diffusion of authority between the Board of Inspectors, the Principal Keeper, the Supervisor and the Prison Labor Commission has blocked and will continue to block the progress of that institution. This same situation seriously handicaps, if it; indeed, does not menace, the system of employment of prisoners on public roads.

In spite of this situation, very gratifying progress has been made in the organization of two road camps, one in Sussex County and the other in Somerset County. The success of this work has been very largely due to the deep interest of the State Road Commisssioner, Colonel Stevens. Here, as in the general administration of the State Prison, the chief difficulty has been a diffusion of responsibility and authority.

Under the circumstances, it would be unfair and unjust to attempt to place the blame for the generally unsatisfactory situation upon any of the boards or officers; the fault is in the system. There is no hope that a better condition will obtain, and one from which we can expect better results, until a general re-organization has been affected and one that shall place the Board of Inspectors in authority over the institution and its policy. The Principal Keeper should be made the executive officer of the Board, made directly responsible to the Board and given authority to administer the institution under the Board's direction in all its departments.

THE PAROLE BOARD.—The law of last winter that constituted the principal keeper, the chaplain and the physician of the State Prison as a Board of Parole was ill-advised. The executive officers of the prison should not have a voice in the release of prisoners. The reasons are obvious and need not be repeated here. I would recommend the repeal of the statute that conferred this parole authority upon the three officers in the Prison, restoring the parole power to the Board of Inspectors. That power should extend to every prisoner whether serving a definite or an indeterminate sentence.

It is a question whether or not the Governor should be expected to approve the paroles granted by the Board of Inspectors, which approval must, in the nature of things, be largely perfunctory, and which must make the Governor, to a degree, responsible for the paroles granted.

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS.

I again call your attention to the very great desirability of providing for the employment of at least two deporting agents, who, under the direction of this Department, shall give their whole time to investigation of alien and non-resident persons in the care of the State, with a view to their deportation or removal. The fact that one-third of our insane population under public care is of foreign birth, and that there are some hundreds in our insane hospitals whose residence within the State has not been established, would certainly justify an attempt on the part of the State to rid itself of the constant and growing expense for the care of those who have no claim legally or morally upon its benevolence.

COLLECTION OF CHARGES FOR THE SUPPORT OF STATE WARDHS.

Chapter 208, Laws of 1910, makes necessary the approval of the Commissioner of Charities and Corrections to applications for admission of feeble-minded, epileptic, blind and tubercular persons into our institutions. The same statute directs the Commissioner, after approval of such applications, "to make an investigation as to the financial condition of the party or parties making the application for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is possible for them to pay, in whole or in part, for the maintenance of the patient."

I desire to call attention to the necessity of providing for the employment of one or more assistants, who may be assigned to such investigations. In connection with this matter, it would seem wise to add to the four classes enumerated in the law all other state wards, to the end that the State should ascertain at first hand whether or not the responsible relatives are in such financial condition as would warrant their being charged with all or a part of the inmate's support. I believe that this should apply not only to the insane, the feeble-minded, the epileptic, the blind and the tubercular, but as well to the parents of delinquent children committed to the State Home for Girls and the State Home for Boys. I believe that the enforcement of such penalties against delinquent parents would have a marked tendency to decrease the delinquency of children. But whether or not this latter suggestion is favorably considered, it would seem to me a measure of economy and possibly of some additional income to the State if provision was made through this Department or some other for the investigation of financial resources of parents and other responsible relatives and the collection from them of proper charges toward the support of their relatives by the State.

CO-OPERATION.

I have had occasion during the year to call upon several departments of the State government for assistance and co-operation.

The value of their services leads me to suggest several ways in which these departments can be of permanent and continuous benefit to our institutions.

The Department of Labor has, at my request, made inspections of a number of institutions, both public and private, with special reference to the fire hazard. These inspections have enabled me to call attention to needed alterations or improvements, all intended to safeguard the lives of inmates. I have requested that Department to continue these investigations until all of the institutions under the supervision of this Department have been reported upon in this particular.

It would seem to me of great importance that the school work in some of our institutions, notably the State Prison, should be extended. The State Commissioner of Education might very properly be called upon by these institutions to co-operate with them in the development of their educational work and give to that work his general supervision. The institutions in which school work is already organized includes the State Reformatory at Rahway, the State Home for Girls, the State Home for Boys, the State Village for Epileptics and the Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Glen Gardner.

Practically all of our institutions maintain for the benefit of their inmates more or less extensive libraries. As a rule, their importance has not been appreciated and I suggest that it would be well for the State to provide, through the State Librarian, for their general oversight, in order that they may be made to contribute to the fullest extent to the pleasure and profit of inmates.

The Departments of Forestry and Agriculture may also be made to contribute to the general efficiency and development of the State lands. All that would seem to be necessary is that the several institutions should avail themselves of the services of these Departments. The advantages to be derived from the co-operation here suggested are manifest and should be encouraged in every way.

I am led to speak of these things because of the helpful spirit of co-operation exhibited by these several departments during the year and in order to emphasize the fact that they have the facilities and stand ready to use them in any way that may be of benefit to our institutions.

A STATE POLICY.

The State has of necessity or from choice assumed the duty of providing for certain classes of its citizens, viz., convicted criminals, juvenile delinquents and mental defectives, (insane, epileptic and feeble-minded). For the care of all of these by the State there is sufficient justification on the ground of necessity and self-protection.

It has by statutory provision made it the duty of the smaller political units, counties and municipalities, to make provision for the sick, the needy poor, dependent children and petty criminals.

In my report of last year, I called attention to the failure of the State to extend to the institutions caring for these latter classes its supervisory functions. I would again urge upon the attention of the Legislature the suggestions then made.

But in 1907 the State assumed the care of still another class, viz., those afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis,—“consumptives.” The efforts then and since made to provide State care and treatment for this class, as a class, have not been successful. I do not decry the good work accomplished by the Glen Gardner Sanatorium,—I am referring only to the policy of providing State care for the sick and diseased. This policy, as regards the care and treatment of tuberculosis, has not been successful nor is there any present evidence that it will be in meeting the problem as a whole. The Legislature of 1912 seemed to recognize this in its enactment of the present mandatory law providing for the erection by each county of a county tuberculosis sanatorium. That law, among other things, provides that the counties shall receive from the State Treasury at the rate of $3.00 a week for every patient cared for. I believe that the care of this class, as of other physically sick and diseased citizens, is a proper charge upon the county or community, and that, as a matter of State policy, it should not be taken over or shared by the State. I believe that the proper function of the State is to give to all such institutions its general supervision. For these reasons, and because the more legitimate and imperative responsibilities of the State with regard to mental defectives and the criminal are even now demanding more than the present financial resources of the State will provide, I suggest the repeal of that section of the Act of 1912 that obligates the State to pay to the counties maintaining county tuberculosis sanatoria at the rate of $3.00 per week for each inmate.

In the event that each of the twenty-one counties of the State should establish such an institution, (and the law is mandatory) and the average number of inmates in each county should be but 60, the State would be obligated to pay for the support of 1,260 patients. This would require from the State Treasury $3,782 a week, or $196,560 a year. Until the State has discharged the obligations that it may not safely or properly neglect or relegate to the counties, it should not assume others that are, at least, of doubtful expediency.

THE STATE'S BUILDING OPERATIONS FOR 1913.

The Legislature last year provided for necessary additional facilities for the State's architectural work. The staff of draughtsmen has been increased and I have been enabled to employ as needed, the services of consulting engineers. These have included Frederick L. Pryor, of Stevens Institute, Hoboken, as Mechanical Engineer; Edward C. Meyer, of Andover, as Civil Engineer, and W. W. Young, of Bordentown, as Sanitary Engineer. The arrangement now in operation by which this Department is enabled to supply expert advice to the several institutions seems to be in every way a better system than the old method whereby institutions employed such services and paid for same out of building or other appropriations. It is more satisfactory also to employ superintendents of construction on stated salaries and continuously instead of under the old plan, whereby one inspector was assigned to a single building and his salary charged against the appropriation for the building. I have employed two inspectors continuously throughout the year and for a period of two months a third one. They have been able to supervise all the State's building operations. I ask, therefore, that the present arrangement both for the employment of consulting engineers and inspectors be continued.

Mr. Drew, the State Architect, in reporting to me on the year's work, states:

During the past year in addition to the direction and supervision of the work in process of execution from last year amounting in value to approximately one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, the architectural staff of your Department has prepared plans and specifications for fifty-two separate operations aggregating $1,212,905.00 in value and has succeeded in awarding satisfactory contracts for forty-six of these operations, aggregating $926,902.57 in value.

The year's work has been by far the greatest in volume and monetary value that has been handled by this office and has been characterized by more extended and closer bidding under wider competition than has ever before been achieved and has resulted, I believe, not only in a greater economy but in the receipt of better value for the money expended than has heretofore been possible.

The variety and extent of this new work is illustrated by the following table:

NOTE.

1. In these two cases the appropriations aggregating $43,000.00 lapsed by reason of the bids exceeding the amounts appropriated.
2. In these two cases the work is to be paid for from funds and the contracts have not yet been awarded.
3. In this case it was decided to lapse the appropriation, although satisfactory bids had been received, in order to deal with the problem in a broader and more satisfactory manner.
4. In this case the State House Commission was unable to award a contract for $96,700.00 because of defective phraseology in the Appropriation Act.
5. In these cases it was found necessary to employ special technical assistance outside of the regular staff of the department.
6. In this case it was found to be impossible to secure satisfactory bids upon the work involved, and by authorization of the State House Commission the work was undertaken and carried to a successful completion by the institution under the direction of this office.

The expense of conducting the year's work has been approximately as follows:

Salary of State Architect	$ 3,600.00
Salary of Draughtsmen	6,000.00
Salary of Stenographers	1,100.00
Expense of Additional Typewriting	37.25
Salary of Inspectors	3,590.06
Expense for Technical Services	3,059.21
Expense for Supplies, etc.	788.68
Traveling Expenses	901.43
Making a total of	$19,076.63

or 1.9 per cent. on approximately one million dollars worth of new work actually handled.

From a purely financial standpoint this is a considerably better showing than that achieved during the last half of the preceding fiscal year but the percentage of expenditure to the volume of work handled, particularly considering the great number of separate operations into which the work is subdivided, is in my estimation far too small to adequately serve the best interests of the State and should by no means be regarded as a standard for future endeavor.

I desire to comment most favorably upon the loyalty and efficiency of the office staff as at present organized, and hope that within the current year it may be possible to recognize this by an appropriate increase in compensation.

With this report, I am filing a roster of the State institutions of New Jersey, giving the names of the members of their respective boards of managers and superintendents; also lists of the private and county institutions operating within the State; the names of overseers of the poor; and the names of the parole and probation officers.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH P. BYERS,
Commissioner.
